

JAP WARRIORS FIGHTING WAY TO LUNGHAI R.R.

Follow Trail Blazed By Mongol Hordes Of Genghis Khan

YELLOW RIVER AREA CAPTURED

Kaifeng, Capital Of Honan Province, Is Threatened

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Feb. 14.—Japan's rising sun warriors, following the trail blazed by the Mongol hordes of Genghis Khan 700 years ago, fought one of the world's greatest battles today in the conquest of central China.

The same battlefields in Honan province where the great Khan's armies struck terror into the heart of Asia reverberated with the din of modern conflict as the Japanese invaders drove desperately fighting Chinese troops southward toward the Lunghai railway.

Capture Lower Stretches
The Japanese already have captured the lower stretches of the Yellow river and have reached the middle section of that great waterway, the division of north and south China.

Swift drives southward put the Mikado's armies astraddle the Pinghan and Taming highway.
They seriously threaten Kaifeng, present capital of Honan province.
The Japanese advance guard was reported on the north bank of the Yellow river after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across the wide waters.

A bitter struggle was in prospect, as the Japanese must cross the river under fire. Bridges were blown up in the withdrawal of Chinese.

The Japanese army driving on Kaifeng, across the Yellow river, was one of five field forces pushing southward toward the Lunghai line, vital communication artery through the rich central China agricultural region.

From the south, three Japanese armies were advancing from the Hwai river.

Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek has 400-000 troops along the north and south fronts fighting to prevent the Japanese gobbling up the huge Lunghai "corridor."

It was announced officially that Japanese victories on the Pinghan front cost the Chinese 2,000 men killed. In the Hwai river sector, 1,500 Chinese were said to have been captured.

The Japanese reported their losses as small, but advised from headquarters at Hankow that the Chinese were inflicting many casualties.

Strong protests were made by Chinese against alleged brutality of the Japanese troops, who were accused of machine-gunning refugees, looting stores and committing atrocities against women and girls after occupying Pengpu and Hwaiyuan.

Held As Firebug

Pictured in New York police headquarters is John Wade, 26, who according to authorities is one of the most unusual arsonists in the city's history. Police say he has confessed to setting more than fifty fires. He is charged with starting one blaze which took the lives of three persons in Brooklyn.

NEW ROUMANIAN SHIFT IS SEEN

Organization Of Crown Council Is Predicted
Today

(By Associated Press)
BUCHAREST, Feb. 14.—The Roumanian government was reported tonight on the verge of another swift reorganization providing for a crown council to outline broad national policies.

Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Roumanian Orthodox church and key man of the new government which evolved from last week's shakeup, would preside over this powerful crown council, according to unverified reports.

Ex-premier George Tatarescu was favored to replace Cristea as premier, in charge of administration details.

Octavian Goga, the anti-Semitic former premier whose government was dissolved last week by King Carol, departed with his wife for Switzerland for treatment of heart and circulatory ailments.

It was learned that a commission was planning a new constitution to replace the one suspended by King Carol.

One of the measures would boost the voting age, now 21 years, to 30.
Conflicts would be denied the right to vote, women might be disenfranchised entirely and illiterate voters might be massed in groups of 25, 50 or 100 each, with an educated representative to vote for each group.

Still another measure would provide regulation and censorship of newspapers. The committee, however, was said to have warned the government against dictatorial measures such as censorship.

Motorists Fined By Mayor Harroff

Two motorists, nabbed on charges of driving automobiles while intoxicated, were assessed fines of $100 and costs and given 30-day jail sentences when arraigned before Mayor George Harroff late Saturday.

Marion Sloan, 28, of S. Broadway, one of the defendants, was arrested by Patrolmen George Reash and James Hassey late Friday night after the motorist's car struck two parked machines near the intersection of E. State, and Lincoln ave.

The officers reported that they overtaken Sloan when his automobile went into a ditch at the corner of Woodland ave. and Maple st. A wheel on the car came off.

Andrew Foreman of Salem Heights, the second driver held for driving a car while intoxicated, was arrested by Patrolman Paul Ormsby about midnight Saturday.

Both Sloan and Foreman pleaded guilty to the charges at a hearing in the mayor's court.

Four Escape Death As Car Hits Poles

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 14.— Youngstown traffic police Sunday termed "a miracle" the escape from death of four young people riding in a light coupe which crashed and broke in succession a city fire hydrant and two heavy telegraph poles.

Ray Maher, 26, the driver, was charged with reckless driving. Police said he admitted drinking shortly before his automobile was virtually demolished in the accident at 8 a. m. on a North Side thoroughfare.

Most seriously injured was Thomas Curran, 26, a passenger, who suffered a possible fractured skull.

Maher received lacerations, as did Jean Morgan, 26. Another passenger, Norman Stevenson, 19, was not hurt.

FLOOD THREAT IS SPREADING IN CALIFORNIA

More Rain, Snow And High Wind Forecast
For Northern Area

MICHIGAN FLOOD DAMAGE MOUNTS

Loss More Than $100,000 In Mt. Clemens District Alone

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—The Pacific coast, wearied by a prolonged siege of rain, snow and high winds that has caused yearly a score of deaths, disrupted communications, halted rail and highway traffic and harassed shipping, faced today—more rain, snow and high winds.

In northern California, where the storm entered its 19th consecutive day, floods which have already inundated several low-lying areas threatened to spread.

From Bridgeport, in eastern California, came a report of the latest known storm victim—Tony Sparcevic, a miner, crushed to death in an avalanche.

Levees Weakened
Heavy rains along the upper Sacramento river heightened apprehension in the Colusa-Sacramento area, where levees were weakened and some 25,000 acres of rich farm land already inundated.

Flood danger appeared abating in the Pajaro valley, with the water of the swollen Pajaro river receding.

Thousands of acres of farm land were inundated when San Joaquin river levees broke near Stockton.
Train service was halted between San Francisco and Portland yesterday by what Southern Pacific officials said was the most severe blizzard in several years.

Snowplows extricated a Denver and Rio Grande passenger train marooned more than 24 hours at 10,015-foot Cumbres pass in the southern Colorado Rockies. The train bore 14 passengers and six trainmen.

Michigan Suffers
DETROIT, Feb. 14.—New Michigan floods over the week-end drove hundreds of families from their dwellings, blocked highways and caused damage far more serious than last week's inundations.

The property loss at Mt. Clemens alone was more than $100,000.

URGE U. S. LEAD IN ARMS CUTTING

King And Maverick See Easement Of War
Tension

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Congress received proposals today that the United States take the lead in calling an international disarmament conference, despite hints of administration coolness.

Senator King (D-Utah and Representative Maverick (D-Texas) formally advocated such a conference. They said Japan and other world powers might be willing to ease the world situation by discussing curbs on world armaments.

Senator Pittman (D-Nev.), who is close to Secretary Hull in his capacity as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, suggested, however, the time was not right. "Political antagonisms" are so strong, he said, as to spoil the chances of a fruitful parley.

Maverick contended that the Japanese note of Saturday, which Hull deplored as "encouraging rather than discouraging races in armament building," did not shut the door to international agreement.

The note, replying to a request from the United States for information, refused to divulge Japan's future naval building plans. It was interpreted by the state department as an indication of Japanese desire to make that nation's fleet equal in strength to Great Britain's and America's.

"Let's have a naval conference, however irritated nations may be," suggested Maverick. "It may save a war."

Jail Break

TORONTO.—(Canadian Press)— One of four men arrested on housebreaking charges, Charles Barham, escaped from Toronto jail by posing as a first offender on a drunk-ness charge.

Placed in a jail corridor before being locked in a cell, Barham learned the name of a man asleep there. When several minor offenders were released on their own recognizance, police said Barham walked out, signed the sleeping man's name to a receipt for personal effects and went free.

Church Speaker

EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 14.— Judge John E. Kramer of Mansfield, former federal prohibition commissioner, Mansfield, spoke on "Church Loyalty" at 75th anniversary service Sunday in St.
John's Lutheran church here.

Watching Papa Goose-Step

Rarely photographed, Donna Rachele Mussolini is pictured at Rome with two of her children, Romano and Anna Maria Mussolini, as they watched the recent demonstration of the goose-step, which Mussolini had adopted and renamed the Paso Romano, or Roman step. They saw papa leave the reviewing stand and join the steppers.

BRITAIN OPENS NEW GIBRALTER

U. S. Is Represented As Giant Drydock Is Dedicated

(By Associated Press)
SINGAPORE, Feb. 14.—The British empire's most formidable naval base—a Gibraltar of the far east—was opened formally today with an American cruiser squadron attending the ceremonies.

Thousands of carefully-checked guests cheered as Sir Shenton Thomas, governor of the straits settlements and personal representative of King George VI, dedicated the huge $55,000,000 drydock.

Rear Admiral Julius Townsend, commanding the battle cruisers, Trenton, Memphis and Milwaukee, represented the United States—the only world power invited to be present.

Civil Lord of the Admiralty Colonel J. J. Llewellyn welcomed "representatives of the United States whose visit of friendship to these shores so fortunately coincides with the ceremony and whose nation is so closely akin to our own in its aspirations and ideals."

"We of the empire have stood by one another in bad times and good," he said. "We mean to support one another in the future as we have in the past."

The drydock is the largest ever built. It can accommodate warships up to 55,000 tons. For the first time in history Great Britain is able to service warships in drydock east of the Suez canal.

Special military police were on the alert to prevent espionage.

The naval base stands on the north side of Singapore island, dominating the Straits of Johore. Some of its mighty guns have maximum ranges of 50 miles.

Goodyear Rubber Given Ultimatum

AKRON, Feb. 14.—A new system of handling labor relations through a recognized arbitration board, proposed by United Rubber Workers, was accompanied today by an ultimatum to the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

Hundreds of union members in session here also resolved that operating economies be made matter for factory-wide negotiation, particularly in respect to lay-offs and changes in hours.

The union voted "unilateral opposition" to any increase over the six-hour shift and demanded that all departments be placed on this basis.

John House, president of the Goodyear local union, said the arbitration proposal was a step forward in labor and a move toward "stabilization of labor conditions."

Under this set-up failure of joint efforts of management and union representatives would throw issues before the proposed arbitration board, whose finds would be binding on all.

The union gave the Goodyear company a week to comply with its demands and said that in case of failure, appeal would be taken to the National Labor Relations Board.

Attempted Robbery Reported To Police

A burglar attempted to break into the Salem Credit bureau office, upstairs at 538 E. State st., sometime Friday night, David Bevan told police Saturday.

The prowler apparently used a screw driver in attempting to pry open the door.

sity of Washington are cold to the they're cold.

their house. And, to top it off, the cook served ice cream.

CERTIFY THREE FOR CLERK JOB IN WATERWORKS

Civil Service Commission Members Announce
Exam Results

MAYOR HARROFF AWAITS FILING

Says Commission Failed To List Names With Board First

Mayor George Harroff said today he was going to find out why the civil service commission had withheld the certified list of eligibles for the water works department clerkship from him while announcing the list to others.

The mayor, chairman of the board of control, which makes the appointment, said the persons who had been notified by the commission that their grades were among the highest, had told him of their success in the recent civil service examinations.

The vacancy in the water works department was caused by the resignation late last month of Clerk Charles Davidson.

Asked For Grades
Roy W. Harris, civil service commission clerk, said today he gave out the grades when the three who had the highest marks asked him for them.

Those certified, and whose names will be placed on city hall records tonight by Clerk Harris, are La-vaugh Simpson, Robert Rheutan and Mrs. D. Eugene Parks. Rheutan is the son of Councilman-at-Large and Mrs. Charles Rheutan.

There were 32 applicants for the municipal appointment when the civil service exams were held Feb.
3 in the High school building.

Goshen Juveniles Present Program

Anna Carr, matron, and her assistant, Miss Florence Schorrenberg, the words of Lincoln; exchange of Valentines; closing song.

After the meeting the juveniles served lunch.

JAPS MAY TALK "UNOFFICIALLY"

Suggest U. S. And Other Nations Use Different Approach

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Feb. 14.—The Japanese foreign office spokesman intimated today that Japan might be willing to provide naval construction information of the request were made "unofficially." If they did so, he added, it was possible "they might have better success with Japan."

Saturday Japan refused to tell the United States, Great Britain and France her naval building plans. Her formal note in reply to requests of the three powers insisted, however, that Japan had "no intention" of maintaining a fleet that would menace other nations.

Asked what would constitute an "unofficial reply" on naval construction, the spokesman did not amplify his statement other than to point out that such a reply would not be "legally binding."

He answered a question on whether Japan might be willing to consider a "gentleman's agreement" on naval building with a shake of his head and the assertion that he was not proposing anything of that nature.

McIntyre, Famous New York Writer, Is Taken By Death

Only Wife At Bedside As He Succumbs; Native Of Ohio, He Once Worked At East Liverpool

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Oscar Odd McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York City, died today in his Park avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town and always boasted that he never lost the naive curiosity of the "home town boy." For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day by Day," gained increasing fame, and in recent years was published in more than 500 newspapers.

McIntyre, who would have been 54 on Friday, died at 2 a. m. Cause of death was not known immediately, but his health had not been good for some time.

Only Mrs. McIntyre was with the columnist when he died. She said his last words were:
"Turn your face towards me so I can see you."

McIntyre wrote his last column, as yet unpublished, in bed on Saturday after having breakfast on a tray. His illness became serious Friday, the last day he left his apartment.

CAUSE OF DEATH UNANNOUNCED

McIntyre Is Worth "Upwards Of Million Dollars" Despite Losses

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Charles B. Driscoll, editor of McNaught's syndicate and long-time friend of McIntyre, said the columnist complained mildly of feeling ill on Sunday after reading the day's newspapers and making notes for his next column.

"At the last, he seemed to become exhausted and just went to sleep," Driscoll said, adding that the exact cause of death could not be ascertained until the death certificate is issued by the medical examiner.

Driscoll said funeral services would be held at Gallipoli, probably on Thursday.

The editor said McIntyre's salary for many years had been more than $2,500 a week and that he was worth "upwards of a million dollars" despite heavy financial losses in 1929.

Sliding Hard At First

The sledding was hard, at first.
McIntyre began the column as a press agent "blurb" for a New York

Carl Dickinson, 58, Succumbs In Lisbon

LISBON, Feb. 14.—Carl Rugey Dickinson, 58, fireman and assistant school janitor at David Anderson High school, died at 7:03 p. m.

ave., after a week's illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Dickinson was born in Lisbon March 21, 1880, the son of John and Louise Rugey Dickinson.
He was married 30 years ago to Martha Franks. He had been a lifelong resident of the village.

Mr. Dickinson also belonged to the Christian church.

by two daughters, Jane of Canton, and JoAnn at the home; three sisters, Miss Jessie Dickinson of Monroe, Ind., Mrs. W. L. Alberts and Mrs. Mary Miller of Youngstown.

The funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home in charge of Rev. F. C. Lake. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery.

Ishbel MacDonald To Wed Handy Man

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Ishbel Mac-Donald, daughter of the late J.
Rumsay MacDonald, once campaigner for use of the term "bachelor girl" instead of "old maid."

Now she says she doesn't care.
The former premier's daughter—friend of many of the world's famous figures and once rumored engaged to a lord—has surprised her family and Great Britain by disclosing that she plans to marry a village handy man.

Miss MacDonald, who was Britain's "first lady" as official hostess for her father when he was prime minister, acknowledged yesterday that she would become the bride of Norman Ridgley, who beats the drum in the Speen, Buckinghamshire, village band. The date has not been set.

The versatile but taciturn Speen tinker who, like his fiancée, is 34, has been a regular customer at the Old Plow, Speen village pub Miss MacDonald operates.

A 1938 MANDATE FOR ACTION

The presidential election of 1932 was made to turn by pressure of circumstances on the point of which candidate gave more promise of doing something—anything—about the depression.

It was Mr. Hoover's misfortune that his ideas had been tried and had not dissolved the depression. It was Mr. Roosevelt's good fortune that his ideas had not been tried.

He was elected to try them, to do something—anything. His mandate was for action, and he used it to the limit in the first new deal.

When his conception of action was challenged and repudiated in the fight over court reorganization, it became evident for the first time that the people no longer favored action without assurance of satisfactory results.

Mr. Roosevelt today is in somewhat the same situation which trapped Mr. Hoover in 1932. It is his ideas which have been tried now and have not dissolved the depression.

The difference, an important one, is that Mr.
Roosevelt cannot be relieved of responsibility, as Mr.
Hoover was in March, 1933. He faces three years of his second term.

The principal term of his popular mandate continues to be action, but it has been qualified by abundant evidence that he is not expected to take action for action's sake.

There must be deliberate thought and coordinate purpose behind the action. To the extent that Mr.
Roosevelt has been consulting with businessmen and employers, this requirement is being satisfied. In 1937 it is not action which is desired, but conviction that no impulsive action is going to be taken without careful attention beforehand to the consequences.

DOUBTS

Continued questioning of the government's apparent intention to give generals and admirals the kind of national defense they want is the sign of an important doubt.

Existence of the doubt must be construed as an indication of lack of confidence in the Roosevelt administration's intentions with regard to foreign policy.
It is a deficiency which must be overcome.

An "adequate" defense, as generals and admirals use the phrase, means a defense strong enough not only to resist attack, but to discourage it. When a nation's military arm is developed to that extent, it is strong enough for aggression.

Whether or not large scale military preparations constitute evidence that aggression is intended depends on the character of the government undertaking them. It is believed Germany is preparing for aggressive warfare because the German government is militant. France, also participating in the armaments race, is not charged with aggressiveness because the French government is not militant.

The United States, officially, is not militant.
Abroad, it is not considered militant. Yet, at home, there have been voiced significant doubts as to the purpose of its military plans. The Roosevelt administration, which so far has had few vexing problems in the field of foreign policy, Waterloo of many a governing group, cannot afford to dismiss such doubts as of no consequence. Before America can proceed effectively in protection of its interests, the doubts of its own citizens concerning what it intends to do must be cleared away.

SQUEEZE PLAY

Members of the general assembly have gone home to rest for the convulsive windup of the session Feb.
28. It means, of course, the clocks will be stopped on that date and the legislative mill will grind on in a timeless void until March 2 or 3.

These squeeze play endings take something out of a man. Even legislators who have engaged in them for years wince at the prospect. Yet, for some reason or other, there seems to be no other way to conclude a legislative session in Ohio.

Is it possible the representatives and senators do this year after year to play on the sympathy of their constituents, who never are too pleased at the outcome of things in the statehouse anyway? Their big brothers in Washington get away with a similar dodge by complaining about suffering in the intense heat of summer in Washington whenever their sessions run overtime.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Diary: Bettines and found Faith Baldwin's latest tome autographed. And a hail from Roy Howard at Waikiki and Gene Fowler sent on his meek treatise for the hangover the most hilarious rbaldry ever I read. The palaverling with Ward Morehouse about his recent stop-over in Gallipolis.

My wife and cousin Josephine flicked me into visiting a gallery to see some canvases of Seine bridges but while they prowled I slipped over to Steffin, the haberdasher, and article for a splashy tie of red, purple and white and fell to gazing upon skaters dashing about in the Radio City pit.

Major Bowes to a home dinner of sauer-kraut and spare ribs and struck by the likeness of young Bill Rogers to his father. Even to the unruly forelock.
So they to the theatre and we to a public nodding to Gilbert Miller, Countess di Frasso and Col. Blenheim, the Seattle publisher, and Mrs. Blenheim.

Dr. Carleton McCulloch, who was James Whitcomb Riley's physician, in commenting upon my recent choice of Riley's "When the Frost is on the Punkin" as the most thoroughly American poem, provides a revealing paragraph about the beloved Hoosier poet.
Says he: "How he used to dread October. He'd say, 'I suppose I've got to go downtown this morning and some jackass is bound to jab me in the ribs with his elbow and cackle, 'The frost is on the punkin vine.' Mr. Riley—he, he, he, he!" Then I've got to appear surprised, tickled and laugh heartily and pretend it's something new and witty. While all the time I want to slap his ears down, first for working off an old annual joke, and secondly for misquoting me. I never used the word vine. I stopped after punkin."

Very often a supreme achievement bedevils an artist in the manner of Riley's "When the frost is on the punkin." DeWolf Hopper was never able to get away from reciting "Casey at the Bat" although he regarded it as a minor achievement. He recited it thousands of times and no matter how he tried to avoid it, there was no stilling the applause until he did it again for an encore. In a lesser way, Bert Wheeler, of vaudeville and the movies, has always failed to duck his classic about the soused mouse and the cat, at parties.

Damon Runyon was the first fictioneer to capitalize the jargon of the 4 o'clock in the afternoon breakfast boys. It proved a vein of highly salable comedy.
Runyon changed the Lindy locale to a place called Mindy's. More than any other observer of the Broadway beatitudes he caught the colorings and nuances of the present tense conversationalists. Such as this:
"I'm standing in front of the Palace and Joe comes along and we ankles to Mindy's, etc." That may sound like drawing the long bow, but that is precisely the way the toll-and-spin-not lads talk.

Grover Whalen, Big Shot of the World's Fair as well as a scoop for Esquire, is already proving something for the front show-case, sartorially. I get a pre-view of his wardrobe effects as he bows through the park in his open car these nippy mid-mornings. No one can tamper on a silk hat with such jauntness or make a boutonniere stand out so sharply. His spats are as flawless as the loop to his cravat. His spruceness gives the impression of super-valeting, but the fact is he is one of those fortunates who has a way with clothes.
Irene Castle in her dancing days was that way in the feminine division. Whatever she wore appeared suddenly smart.

Carolyn Wells is absorbed by the anacrostics, alias double crostics. It's like a fever she can't stop. Daily when she should be at her typewriter she is feasting on strange words—waiting to use such as salterello, ajlstonane, proslency, librate and intmity. Incidentally she has never found anyone save the manufacturer who knows what a shock is. That's a barrel taken apart and packed for shipping.

Thingumbobs: Leopold Stokowski likes a midnight hamburger with onions, too... Lucius Beebe, despite offers, refuses to write more than one column a week, sensible fellow... Grandland Rice is Lloyd George's favorite American versifier.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, February 15

A very lively and exciting day is presaged from the predominant stellar influences. There is likely to be a sudden move, journey or change that may have a vital effect on the life, both in business and private relations. Romance and adventure are involved, but it would be well not to make too rash or hasty decisions, or to be completely carried away by emotional stirrings. Also hesitate before getting entangled with young people or servants.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great adventure, through upheaval, change, travel or romance, probably of an unexpected nature. Radica-cal influences are at work on the life, but be careful about making decisions and dealing with young persons or servants.

A child born on this day may be talented in very original and surprising lines. It may be inventive, adventurous and romantic. It also may be bright and humorous, and may seek its friends among unusual people.

Death in Barcelona

Although weeks have passed since the rebel airmen of Gen. Francisco Franco started pouring death from the air on the city of Barcelona, the work of digging out the victims still continues, with more bodies recovered every day. Here a searching party is shown carrying out a body which had lain in the ruins nearly a fortnight.

TRACING DISEASES

IT USED to be the custom to take physic to stimulate bowel evacuation. It was commonly believed that the liver was the source of disor-

Dr. Copeland

ders of this sort and that to relieve "biliousness" or "liver complaint," the use of laxatives and cathartics
was necessary.

Up to the early part of the present century those who had spots before the eyes, di-ziness, frequent headache, furred tongue and bad breath were believed to be suffering from "auto-intoxication," or liver disease. In fact, many human complaints were blamed on the liver. Medical science has learned much about the functions of the liver and gall bladder. By means of special examinations it can be accurately determined whether these organs are actually the seat of trouble.

Little do we appreciate what tremendous strides have been made in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. Many of these disorders were unknown in former years, or their to the liver or some other vital organ to the liver or some other vital organ. But such guess work is no longer needed.

X-Ray Beneficial
By means of the X-ray, the gall bladder and its ducts can actually be visualized. The physician can now determine whether or not there is an infection in the liver, gall bladder or intestinal tract. By special tests the modern physician can find out, too, whether there is a decline in the function or working ability of the liver.

These advances have been made possible by improvement in X-ray technique, increased knowledge of the chemistry of the body, and by the perfection of certain diagnostic instruments. There is no doubt that the doctor of yesterday would wonder at the working tools and other equipment of the modern physician.

It will be seen that modern methods of handling disease have developed many advantages unknown to our forefathers. But in spite of this knowledge, too many persons avoid applying for these advantages and continue to resort to old-fashioned methods of treatment.

That is why some cling to the old notion that all ailments result from faulty bowel evacuation; they continue to resort to "cleansing methods" used years ago.

Some skin troubles are tough to cor-

Millions Are Fighting That Tired Feeling

Some people are always tired, no matter how much sleep they get. Often they are just suffering from constipation. For early fatigue, mental depression, sleeplessness, sour stomach and its resultant bad breath, mental depression, the aggravation of most skin blemishes, can all be caused by it. So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions are sold yearly. All druggists, 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

WATCH OIL IN COLD WEATHER

Chrysler Corporation Expert Offers Advice on Caring For Auto Motor

With the winter's coldest weather normally to be expected after Feb. 1 in many sections of the country, W. A. Hilman, service manager of the Chrysler division, Chrysler Corporation, offers some hints to motorists on cold weather starting and operation. The J. G. Smith garage, E. Third st., is local representative.

"In the first place," says Mr. Hilman, "motorists should bear in mind that one of the most important factors in cold weather operation is the effect of lubrication on starting and vice versa.

Oil Congeals

One of the principal and most frequent causes of slow starting in cold weather is thickened and congealed oil. Owners should make sure that they are using the exact grade of oil recommended for their section of the country at a given season of the year. Generally, the condition can be corrected by using the proper grade of oil.

The effects of starting on lubrication are more complex, however. The wise driver will make a study of them and be guided by his findings. In our Chrysler cars the choke is automatic. No manual manipulation is possible. In occasional cases it may be found that the choke has become unlinked in some manner so that it is not operating, but very rarely will there be any difficulty with the choke if it is in good order.

"When the choke is out, it must be realized that the fuel mixture is very rich or 'wet'. Consequently an appreciable amount of it is not burned in the cylinders but runs down the walls and washes off the oil between them and the pistons. This is one cause of noise.

Proper Pumping Impossible

Then while the oil in the crankcase is congealed, it cannot be properly pumped up into the bearings and wrist pins or sprayed on the cylinder walls to replace that washed away by the unburned gasoline. With the automatic choke, the period of 'wet' mixture is limited to the briefest possible time but in very cold weather there is such a period nevertheless. Meanwhile the engine should be kept turning as slowly as possible without actually stalling.

"It is a good idea to declutch when starting in very cold weather. By doing so the driver relieves the starting motor of the necessity of turning over the transmission gears which are cold and whose oil likewise is sluggish.

"Once the engine is started it should be kept at the lowest possible speed until the heat indicator has reached the normal operating temperature. The reason for this is obvious. It gives the engine time to achieve its normal lubrication before any great strain is placed on it."

Lincoln-Zephyr Pioneers New Styling

A FRESH approach in the development of the modern streamline design is offered in the new 1938 Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 cylinder motor cars. The sedan with four doors is pictured above. The "tear drop" front end suggests the highly streamlined front of a racing plane. The "air stream" treatment is carried out smartly in the long sweep of the hood, the rakish tilt of the windshield, the graceful body contours and the new massive fenders and lamps. Inset, the front compartment which has been enlarged and the gear-shifting lever moved out of the way of driver and front seat passengers. Among the new engineering features are an increased wheelbase length, now 125 inches, and the use of hypoid drive in the rear axle. The 110 horsepower V-type 12-cylinder engine operates more quietly, yields a smoother flow of power and functions with maximum economy.

ZEPHYR OFFERS SIX BODY TYPES

The new Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars, longer and more dashing sleek than their predecessors and displaying an entirely new impression of modern motor car styling, are on display at the Grate Motor Co. garage.

Two racy new convertibles, a sedan and a coupe, make their debut among the six smart body types which comprise the 1938 Lincoln-Zephyr group. In addition to the new convertibles, the line includes a sedan with four doors, a coupe-sedan with two doors, a three-passenger coupe and a town-limousine. A wide range of choice in colors in a new baked enamel finish is available.

From front to rear bumper, the styling of the new cars is modern and well-groomed, displaying a fresh approach in the development of the streamlined design created only two years ago when the Lincoln-Zephyr first was presented to the public as the Lincoln Motor Car company entry in the medium-price field. The new styling permits substantially amplified body roominess.

The "tear-drop" front end, which suggests the highly streamlined front of a racing plane, blends harmoniously with the balance of the design. The conventional radiator grille has been subordinated. The front is closed except for two openings near the bottom, through which air is admitted to the engine compartment.

The 110 horsepower V-type 12-cylinder engine and the transmission have been moved forward in the chassis. The additional space thus provided increases the depth of the driver compartment. The transmission is now located under the cowl. The housing has been lowered and the gear-shifting mechanism moved out of the way of driver and front seat passengers, thus leaving the compartment unobstructed.

The new Lincoln-Zephyr bodies owe part of their roominess to their unusual width, the result of the elimination of the conventional running board. Passengers may step directly onto the floor of the car.

LAUDS EFFORTS OF LUMBERMEN

President of Ohio Association Praises Work of Local Dealer Home Building

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14 — "Everybody talks about low-cost housing, but what's being done?" remarked Ralph L. Oberdorfer, president of the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers.

"Everybody just keeps on talking," Oberdorfer said, answering his own question, "and the only one doing anything about it—anything constructive, that is—is the old reliable lumberman."

Costs Soared

"The government," Oberdorfer suggested, "was going to show how to build better for less. And everybody knows what happened. Government housing costs soared far above the purchasing power of the average family."

"Then the pre-fabricators promised unheard-of economies," the prexy of the Ohio association continued. "Now partial pre-fabrication is both practical and desirable; in fact, our industry has pioneered in such efforts. But complete pre-fabrication is undesirable, even if practicable, at this time, and it was not surprising that these promised economies failed to materialize."

"And in the meantime, what has happened?" asked Oberdorfer. "Well, the most important development is that lumber dealers, in conjunction with contractors and architects, went ahead this past year to show what they could do."

Settle On Three Designs

"They settled on three approved house designs, each architecturally correct, specifying sound materials, and completely modern. They built more than 3,000 of these homes in 300 localities and invited hundreds of thousands to view them. Then they sold them—at a profit—for an average of from $3,100 to $3,800.

"This was the biggest, most successful demonstration of low-cost housing in the country's history," Oberdorfer affirmed. "And it proved the spur to thousands of other home-builders. My firm conviction is that when lower-cost 'good' homes are built, the retail lumber dealer will be furnishing the materials for them."

BATH PICTURES ARE COLLECTED

Newspapers 6,000 years from now 1938 A. D., according to H. E. Putnam, will regale readers with photographs of how Americans bathed in 1938 A. D., according to H. E. Putnam, manager of the branch of Crane Co. at Canton, O., and locally represented by the J. R. Stratton Co., heating and plumbing engineers.

The picture record is being assembled by Crane Co. at the request of Oglethorpe university, Georgia, which will preserve the photographs and data in a campus crypt not to be opened until 8113 A. D.

The collection will include not only pictures of the very latest bathroom fixtures for homes, hospitals and industrial installations but it will draw on the past for photographs of fixtures used by our forefathers, not forgetting the Saturday night laundry tub ritual of recent memory. Many of these older plumbing fixtures are now housed in a museum in the national display rooms of Crane Co. at Atlantic City, N. J.

Every phase of American life since 1893, in motion pictures, according to T. K. Peters, director of the archives of Oglethorpe, the material is being placed in a crypt sunk deep beneath the university in the solid granite of the Appalachians on which the University is built. When the collection is completed the crypt will be sealed. An imperishable tablet will be placed at the entrance requesting future generations to leave the crypt unopened until 8113 A. D.

MACHINE SHOWN BY J. G. SMITH CO.

Chief Feature Is That Machine Doesn't Have To Be "Tended"

A new home laundry, designed to liberate the modern housewife from one of the few remaining drudgeries of home making, is attracting nationwide attention wherever it is demonstrated.

The machine is a product of the engineering laboratories of Bendix Home Appliances, Incorporated, of South Bend, Ind., and although only recently offered to the public the reception accorded it indicates an unprecedented accomplishment for household efficiency and greater leisure for women at home. The firm is represented here by the J. G. Smith Co., E. Third st.

Perhaps the feature that appeals to the housewife most is the fact that the Bendix home laundry does not need to be "tended," from the time the soiled clothes are placed in the machine until they are removed damp-dry ready for the line.

If pre-soaking is desired, the machine will perform this step automatically after two electric dials are set to govern the temperature of the water and the time of soaking; after that, soap is added and the machine, again automatically, washes, rinses and spins the clothes damp-dry. When the process is finished, the machine stops itself and the housewife may remove the clothes for the line at any time she chooses.

The Bendix home laundry is a sturdy, compact unit, being 35 inches in height, 25 inches in breadth and 20 inches in depth. It is housed in a white cabinet with a black base, and resembles a modern radio or refrigerator in design. Splashing or dripping is impossible.

Two dials, or controls, are mounted on the upper front of the cabinet which also includes a round glass port through which clothes are placed in the machine and through which may be seen the soaping effect and the various automatic cycles of the operation. The new home laundry may be connected with flexible hoses to hot and cold faucets and set tubs or plumbed directly to hot and cold water pipes and the house drain.

CLEANERS FACE TWO CONDITIONS

Shrinkage and Stretching — But Both Are Taken Care of Capably at Paris Plant

Shrinkage and stretching are two conditions to be watched when garments are sent to the dry cleaners. The quality woven into the fabrics do have much to do with these conditions but even the best of materials will stretch and some shrink with any ordinary handling.

The most modern dry cleaning plants measure the garments when received. This is done by placing them over a specially constructed device that gives measurements for the entire length and breadth.

To be doubly certain, these figures are noted on a special chart and when the garment is ready to finish it is pressed to these exact figures, and if the garment is right in size when received at the plant it will be the same when returned to the customer.

If women fully understood this they would never be dissatisfied in this particular, for if they wish the garment shrunk to a certain size is usually can be done; or stretched if necessary. All that's necessary is to inform the plant.

The Paris Cleaners have adopted the most up-to-the-minute method known to the trade regarding this all too common bug-a-bboo. Women can be certain each garment will be pressed to the exact size without its losing the stylishness built into it in the making.

The two at large are William Hall, 25, also serving a sentence from Franklin county, and William Whitney, 18, Negro, sentenced from Dearborn county.

Thursday night five men sawed their way out of the Indiana state prison at Michigan City. Three of them were captured a few hours later but two still are at large.

Gives Up Home, Job, for Dog

Eleanor Allinger and Symbol

Miss Allinger will give up her home, her job and her friends for her dog, a young Great Dane known as Symbol and shown above with her. The dog must be removed from the state to comply with a court order because its ears had been cropped in violation of the state penal code. Miss Allinger said she would go to Georgia.

WEIGH UTILITY OF 18-IN. GUNS

Research As to Efficacy Of Huge Weapons Is Under Way

WASHINGTON—Speculation has been revived here as to whether the United States eventually may equip its fighting ships with 18-inch guns.

This type gun has never been mounted on any battleships of this nation, and navy officials insist the weapon exists only on paper. Despite the strict secrecy that surrounds all matters of ordnance, however, it is known that research concerning the efficiency of the 18-inch gun is being constantly carried on.

It is admitted that a weapon of this type would possess enormous destructive power, but many naval officials doubt whether its use would be worth the sacrifices that would have to be made along other lines.

Guns Now Weigh 128 Tons

It is pointed out, for example, that the largest gun now used in the United States fleet, the 16-inch, 50-caliber weapon, weighs 128 tons. The 13-inch, 45-caliber gun weighs 105 tons. Each projectile or shell used in the 16-inch gun weighs 21,000 pounds.

The next smaller size, the 14-inch 50-caliber gun, weighs 81 tons, while its projectiles weigh 14,000 pounds each. Thus, it is pointed out that because of the great amount that an 18-inch gun would weigh, fewer of these weapons and their projectiles could be carried in addition, smaller, more "flexible" weapons would have to be sacrificed.

The present 16-inch, 45-caliber guns such as are used on the battleships Colorado, West Virginia and Maryland can fire their projectiles a distance of about 16 miles when the guns are at an elevation of 30 degrees—the elevation at which the longest distance can be obtained.

At the same elevation, the 14-inch 50-caliber guns have a range of more than 16 miles. Guns of this type are used aboard the battleships California and Tennessee.

Smaller Guns On Four Ships

The battleships Pennsylvania, Arizona, Oklahoma and Nevada use 14-inch guns of 45 caliber. A maximum range of 21,000 yards can be obtained at a 15-degree elevation.

The penetration power of an 18-inch gun undoubtedly would be higher than that of any gun now in use. The 14-inch, 45-caliber gun alone is said to be capable of piercing 18 inches of armor plate at a distance of 9,000 yards.

In addition to the considerable extra weight that an 18-inch gun would involve, the turret upon which the gun is mounted also would have to be heavier and stronger to absorb the terrific recoil such a gun would have.

Great sacrifices in speed also would have to be made, it is said, if guns much larger than those now used were put into commission.

LONDON—Estimates based on conservative figures of average cruising speeds show that Royal Air Force planes flew more than 100,000 miles in 1937. This is equivalent to a journey far beyond the sun, or 4,000 times around the equator.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

Theater Attractions

Edmund Lowe, Mae West and Lloyd Nolan as they appear in "Every Day's A Holiday" at the Grand theater tonight and Tuesday.

A new musical comedy, "Hollywood Hotel", with an all-star cast, is the current feature at the State. The picture concludes Tuesday night.

Dick Powell has the most important part—that of a young crooner who comes to Hollywood with promises of a movie job, and gets into all sorts of difficulties before he wins success.

Lane Sisters Starred

The Lane sisters, Lola and Rosemary, have the leading feminine roles, the former as a temperamental movie star who refuses to appear at a premiere, and the latter as a totally obscure hotel worker who takes Lola's place on the big night.

Louella Parsons, famed dramatic critic and originator of the "Hollywood Hotel" air show, plays herself in the picture, acting as mistress of ceremonies and introducing a great number of stars to her audience in the famed "Orchid Room."

Among the bevy of funmakers who have important roles are Hugh Herbert, Ted Healy, Glenda Farrell, Johnnie "Scat" Davis, Alan Mowbray, Mabel Todd, Allyn Joslyn, Grant Mitchell, Frances Langford and Grand Kennedy.

Introduce Stars

Dick sings half a dozen new hit songs by the clever composing team of Whiting and Mercer, and there is plenty of other music by Benny Goodman and his famous swing band, and Raymond Paige's well-known orchestra.

Every Day's A Holiday", Mae West's newest film, will be seen tonight and Tuesday at the Grand.

Set at the turn of the century, Miss West's latest adventure is the story of a girl with a penchant for selling the Brooklyn bridge to unsuspecting strangers, an idiosyncrasy which gets her into difficulties with the police, particularly Edmund Lowe, a detective. Lowe is assigned to the task of "bringing in" the elusive Miss West, a job which is not an easy one for him since he happens to be in love with her.

Sought By Theater

Also seeking Miss West is Walter Catlett, a theatrical producer who wants her to head a new show. It then becomes necessary for Miss

SYNOPSIS

The loss of the family fortune did not phase Ann DeLaford, just nineteen, and the youngest of three daughters. Now that her banker father had failed and was only earning $50 a week in the reorganized company, she was not going to sit idly by, but would get a position. Her sisters, Bernice and Claire, twenty-one and twenty-two, respectively, just laughed. And Mother DeLaford always got a convenient heart attack when anything went wrong. Freddy Brandon, an irresponsible artist and Bernice's heart-throb, arrives with news of the opening of a new supper-club called "The Laughing Pig." "Get me a job there," Bernice pleaded. "Could I be a barmaid or something?" So Bernice goes off to the club with Freddie. Claire, a bridge fiend says any money she earns will come from that source. Her present bridge partner is Captain de Freyn, a questionable character though persona grata on Park Avenue. With a letter of introduction from Thomas F. Barclay, one of the owners of Barclay & Weiss, Ann buoyantly goes into that department store in search of work. She forgets all about the letter until after Paul Bradley, the merchandise manager, employs her as "comparison shopper" at $18 a week. "I'm glad I engaged you without the letter because I prefer to use hunches," he tells her. Ann is greatly attracted to the handsome young executive. Brenda Selz, the gift shop buyer, is in love with Paul. Considering Ann a rival, she treats her very coolly. Ann's duties as "comparison shopper" are to compare the products of other stores with hers, and purchase articles she thought it might be advisable to carry. Her first day out, she picks up a pouch-bag and the twin bracelets. Returning to the store she meets Gordon Gavin, one of her own set who also met one of her financial reverses. Gordon is now an advertisement writer for Barclay & Weiss.

CHAPTER VI

"Gordon! How perfectly marvelous to run into you here!" Dropping her parcels on the first table handy, Ann held out her two hands to the good-looking youth. "Why, Ann!" he stammered, flushing. "You—you're shopping here?" "Yes. No, I mean, I've got a job. I'm working. I'm thrilled about it. Gordon. Let's eat together, shall we?" "I'd love to. I say, I can't believe you're real. Can you imagine, I haven't seen you since the last Junior Assembly—last February, wasn't it?" He sat her at the little table where her packages rested, leaning across it towards her with his whole soul in his eyes. He was thinking, with bitter-sweet longing, how lovely she was! "Forget the silly old Assemblies and the old dowagers who chaperoned them! The workaday world is heaps more amusing!" Ann told him. He didn't find it so. He was a moody peg, was Gordon Gavin. A square peg in a round hole. "You mean you're doing Settlement Work with the Junior League?" "Junior League bunk! Little Ann's out for cash, old dear—hard cash—she needs it!" said little Ann gaily. "And what brings you here?" "My job. My divine new job of comparison-shopper! I'm a girl snoper—a sweet girl-spy—a second Mata Hari, darling!" So intent was he on her that he failed to see a green-eyed, auburn-haired girl passing the table. She had a ripe red mouth whose underlip she suddenly bit with her strong white teeth as her slanting eyes swiftly took in the young couple. But Ann, who was intuitive, glanced up and caught her look. "Gordon, who's that?" she asked of him. He shrugged. Nonchalantly. "That's Renita Parrish. Head of stock. Not a bad egg, in her way." "You work here?"

"Oh, hello, Gordon," Renita said with forced casualness.

"Certainly I do. I jingle!" "You what?"

He grinned. "I jingle! Panties of the jeune fille will bloom in the Spring, tra la la! I write of the thrilling spiritual qualities of one-piece combinations! I grow lyrical on little lace brassieres, my dear! And positively Shakespearean on little pink silk step-ins."

She laughed. Ann's laugh was like a freshet of delight. He glowed at her.

"You think it's so funny for one who planned—poor fool that he was—to write the great American novel?" "Glorious training, old boy, since the American novel's fairly sizzling with (shall I say?) intimate facts!" "Pink pajamas stuff? I live it and eat it and sleep it, demmit! And I go half insane over what they call their advertising schedules."

"Oh, Gordon, you're darn lucky to have a job of any sort, these days! When Mr. Bradley engaged me this morning as a comparison-shopper, I didn't know whether I was on my head or my heels!" "Don't let that gink go to your head! I detest him!" snapped Gordon.

Then stopped, following Ann's eyes which had strayed to a nearby table. The gink himself was watching them!

Ann found herself blushing to a bright rose.

Was it because she had been found lurching by the "boss" with a young man whom he might as well imagine was a total stranger to her, not knowing their long friendship? Or was it because there was something in the "boss" himself that was disturbingly attractive?

"Fool that you are!" she said to herself. "As if he'd ever give a second thought to you out of three thousand employees in the store!"

But she knew that, whatever the nature of her attraction to the good-looking merchandise-manager the one thought uppermost in her mind was to please him, to justify the opportunity he had given her.

Don't let that slave-driver faze you!" came the annoyed tones of Gordon Gavin. "Just because he's paying you some measly little salary doesn't mean you've signed away your soul!"

"Sounds Mephistophelian! Sweet Marguerite and Faustus!" Ann pulled herself together, bringing her look back to Gordon, smiling at him.

How immature, how suddenly weak-chinned Gordon seemed in comparison with the older man! Yet, at her coming-out ball eleven months ago in the Ritz-Carlton, it had pleased her that the Harvard lad had cut in on her continuously, and had snatched a kiss from her behind a screen of ferns. She hadn't exactly thought she was in love with him, but she had enjoyed a little heart flutter.

She finished her salad and tea, and rose. What matter if Gordon looked disappointed at the brevity of their meeting? Hadn't she more important things to see to? The words of Paul Bradley rang in her ears: "To get ahead one must be hard boiled."

Gordon walked with her to the elevator. The red-haired Renita Parrish, by an apparent coincidence, was loitering there. She looked pale and rather tense, for it was an understood thing in department store ethics (or etiquette, more aptly) that taking a girl to lunch was the commencement of Romance with a capital R.

"Oh, hello, Gordon," Renita said now, with forced casualness, "don't forget the conference at 2:30 in Mr. Bradley's office for the big Sunday ad." She looked directly at Ann, as though expecting an introduction, which Gordon effected with none too good a grace.

He had wanted to date Ann for tonight. Now the "not a bad egg in her way," as he had gracefully referred to Renita, was bawling things up. Confound the woman!

The elevator gates swung open. Ann stepped inside. He had to go back and finish his lunch and settle the check. "I've five minutes to spare. I'll go back with you," Renita suggested.

Gordon was annoyed. Why on earth had he permitted Renita to play up to him these past few weeks, and even cook tasty little dinners for him in her apartment?

Just because he had practically broken with the old crowd through sensitiveness over his father's suicide and his own changed circumstances, and was lonely, didn't mean that he had any real zest in stooping to conquer!

Women of Renita's type were so possessive!

They lacked, thought he, the well-bred reticence that was a charm in girls like Ann. It was impossible for them to hide their emotions. Blazon them around, they would, knowing full well that a department store was nothing but a sounding-board for gossip! Renita was a house-organ when it came to spreading news. He should never have introduced her to Ann, he thought snobbishly, annoyed at himself.

A DIURETIC stimulant such as Dr. Pierce's A-muric is often indicated and usually it is sufficient to relieve minor kidney irregularities. Mr. L. A. My kidneys gave me no more trouble." Buy at drug store.

WHAT M.C. COBEN SAID TO HAROLD SNEAD, CHIEF PILOT OF TWA

"Do you find Camels really different from other cigarettes?"

Harold Snead gives his own answer—"Camels agree with me!" he says. And millions of other smokers agree with Pilot Snead, making Camels the largest-selling cigarette in America.

ON HIS SECOND MILLION MILES! Snead knows what he's talking about when he says: "In this line of work, healthy nerves are at a premium. I smoke—all I want. Camels don't get on my nerves."

A FEW of the instruments Snead has to watch. After a trip, Hal likes a Camel. "When I feel tired, I smoke a Camel the first chance I get," he says. "Yes, I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

"Some people say all cigarettes are alike, Mr. Snead... Can Camels really be so different?"

"There's a big difference, sir. I can tell the difference in the way Camels hit the spot and agree with me! I know most American fliers who have several thousand hours in the air. The majority are steady smokers and prefer Camels. Years of experience have taught them that Camel is a really different cigarette!"

AFTER THE BIG TWA SKYSLEEPER, above, was set down in Newark Airport, M. C. Coben was chatting with Hal Snead, chief pilot of the Eastern region, and Isabelle Judkins, air hostess of Glendale, California. Hal pulled out his Camels and offered them around. And so they got to talking cigarettes!

ON DUTY, Isabelle is a perfect hostess! "I notice that most of the passengers on the TWA run prefer Camels," she says. "When conversation turns to cigarettes, the comment I often hear is, 'Camels agree with me.'"

A SWIM—then a "lift" with a Camel—and Isabelle Judkins' off-duty hours pass pleasantly. "What a difference I found in Camels!" she says. "No ragged nerves. No scratchy throat."

COURT HONORS SPREAD AMONG OHIO COLLEGES

Wooster Boasts Leading Offensive Team; Mt. Union Is Leader

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Feb. 14. — Honors were scattered on a wide front this St. Valentine's day in Ohio collegiate basketball circles.

Wooster's rampaging Scots are the best offensive team with an average of 56.7 in all games, and 64.4 in Ohio conference play.

Akron's Zippers are the best defensive team in the state with an average of 29.5.

Mt. Union tops the state-wide standing with 14 wins in 16 starts, and is the Ohio conference's best defensive quintet with a mark of 31.1.

Wittenberg, tied with Wooster for the Ohio loop leadership with seven straight wins, is the second-best scoring team and the third best defensive quintet in the league.

Marshall is "top" in the Buckeye with five straight victories.

The best offensive average of 56.8, and the best defensive record of 31.2.

Second in the state-wide standings, is the second-best scoring team in the state with an average of 52.1.

But, just to prove that figures can't be relied on too much in estimating a team's strength, take a look at this:

Wooster, with an offensive average of 56.7 points per game, has won 10 and lost 2. Miami has the same won-and-lost record, with an offensive average of 35.8, or 21 less points per game than the Scots; Xavier, with the same offensive average as Miami, has lost eight of 15.

Ohio Northern and Findlay have scored 425 points each in 11 conference games, but Findlay has won eight and lost three, while the Polar Bears have dropped 10 of their 11 contests.

Marietta has needed an average of 49 to win 10 of 14 games, but Akron has the same record on an average mark of 35.2.

Wilmington, Denison and Muskingum have practically the same offensive averages, a bit over 36 per cent, yet Wilmington has won 11 and lost four; Denison has lost nine of 12, and the Muskies have copied but three of nine.

Skipping over to the defensive side, Wooster and Dayton have the same record of points allowed opponents, 37.3, yet the Scots have won 10 and lost two, while the Flyers have won but four of 13.

All of which goes to show that even in these days of streamlined basketball, balance between the offense and defense is still the prime requisite.

LIST 42 GAMES ON WEEK CARD

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. — This corner owes Cam Henderson, Marshall college coach, a great big apology and this is it . . . that squib last week that Cam had taken out a $10,000 policy on Jackie Hunt, his new backfield star was all wet . . . Jackie has been insured for ten grand but a group of Marshall well wishers—not Cam—put up the dough . . . Duke Ridgley, the Huntington sports editor, who knows what is going on down that way, says Cam was on a southern trip with his basketball team when the policy was issued and didn't know a thing about it, and we accept what Mr. Ridgley says, without question . . . we're sorry we muffed it, and hope Cam will wire that all is forgiven . . . score: No runs, no hits, one error.

Al Schacht, the baseball clown, has just about decided to go west with the Pirates instead of south with the Red Sox this spring . . . Young Jimmy Adamick, who Jack Kearns says is a combination Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker, is showing fans here some nifty punching in his workouts for Harry Thomas . . . Lou Gehrig sees the Indians, rather than the Tigers, giving the Yanks the most trouble next season . . . cod liver capsules are helping Nathan Mann put on poundage for Joe Louis . . . Jimmy Adamick, making his big league debut here Friday night, played a hunch and holed into the same hotel Jimmy Braddock stopped at before he beat Max Baer for his title.

BIG TEN TEAMS MUST OVERTAKE WILDCAT QUINT

Face Job Of Overhauling Northwestern Again As Purdue Loses

By WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO, Feb. 14. — The job of overhauling Northwestern's surprising Wildcats in the Big Ten basketball title race will have to be done all over again.

Purdue pulled up into a tie for the lead last week at five victories and one defeat, after Northwestern had set the pace all season through having played more games than its main rivals.

Saturday night the Wildcats took over sole possession of first place by trimming Wisconsin, 27 to 23, at Madison, while Purdue was taking an unexpected 37 to 29 thumping from Ohio State at Columbus.

In the other two games, Minnesota defeated Illinois, 28 to 23, at Minneapolis, in spite of the return to eligibility of Pick Dehner, who scored 11 Illinois points, and Iowa gave Chicago its 33rd straight Big Ten defeat, 42 to 29, at Chicago.

Northwestern will be idle tonight, but return to the wars Saturday on its own floor against Indiana, which walloped Louisville, 59 to 40, in a non-conference game.

Michigan Saturday night lost a 45 to 41 decision to Michigan State, and resumes its conference title bid tonight at Ann Arbor against Iowa. Chicago makes another effort to snap its long losing streak at home against Wisconsin in tonight's other game.

Next Saturday night, Purdue meets Wisconsin at Madison; Michigan enters Minnesota; Ohio State goes to Illinois and Chicago plays its return game with Iowa at Iowa City.

The standings:

Northwestern 6 1 .857 23 21

Figures in Rumanian Crisis

King Carol II with Octavian Goga

In a surprise move, King Carol II of Rumania sets himself up as dictator-king, "abolishes parties" and names as premier Patriarch Miron Cristea, president of the Holy Synod of the National Orthodox Church of Rumania. The move followed the resignation of Premier Octavian Goga, the anti-Semitic Fascist who has been in office since December and who was forced out by rising tide of anti-Fascist feeling. King Carol and Goga are shown above in one of the last pictures taken before Goga quit. Dr. Cristea is shown below. By his move, King Carol "avoided" a forthcoming election, which was expected to show the Fascists in a small minority.

"Outsider" Is Dog Champion

Center of attraction at the Westminster Kennel club show in New York is Windholme Sensation, crowned best of the pointers in one of the most fantastic situations ever unfolded at the show. Although opposed by England's best, Windholme Sensation, sired by the 1932 champion, Nancoloth Markable, was the pick of the judges. Harry Peters of Islip, N. Y., who owns the champion, bought the dog for $30 by chance several years ago. While driving on the streets of Rochester, he saw the dog on a leash. It resembled Nancoloth Markable so much that Peters bought it. Never before has the champion been shown in a major exhibition.

EL PASO, Tex.—Possibility that narcotic smugglers are concentrating on the Mexican border for widespread operations through the United States was expressed by Daniel P. Bailey, superintendent of the U. S. Customs Patrol, as he announced the patrol has opened a drive to block smugglers.

"We have received fairly persistent reports that there is narcotic traffic through El Paso to Arizona and the Pacific Coast," he said.

Bailey expressed belief that opium poppies are being cultivated in secret fields in the interior of Mexico. The patrol chief said he has received reports that there is a factory near the fields where the surplus is converted into heroin.

Seizures Large In Arizona
He backed his belief that the smugglers have turned to the border by his report of narcotic seizures in Arizona during 1937. He said 72 pounds of smoking opium, crude opium, heroin and cocaine were seized by customs patrolmen in that state alone.

From his headquarters here Bailey directs the activities of scores of men and secret agents. At his disposal are horses, airplanes, speedy automobiles and boats. Bailey said the border patrolmen discovered long ago that airplanes and automobiles, despite their speed, cannot replace horses for work in some sections of the Mexican border.

Gang of 17 Sentenced Bailey recently broke up a ring of narcotic peddlers who operated in Galveston, Houston, San Antonio and New York. Agents working under Bailey's direction have arrested 17 members who have been convicted.

"They were becoming so bold that they offered as high as 30 grains of narcotics at a time for sale on downtown streets," he said. Bailey is confident that gangs moving to the Southwest area will be checked because "we have been fairly successful in closing the Pacific Coast to narcotic smugglers."

hotel, in return for his room and board. He gave it away free, eagerly seeking to have it circulated. Gradually it caught on until it was syndicated from coast to coast.

In later years, he was accused of portraying a New York which no longer existed but which represented the idea of "Baghdad on the Subway" to the nation's hinterland millions.

He never faltered at his destiny, although he frequently complained that it was the most soul-travailing task in the world. His regular column, written in the Samuel Pepps manner he sometimes assumed, appeared this morning.

By coincidence, the opening paragraph spoke of his beloved Gallipoli, where he had built a fine home in the oft-repeated hope of some day "going back."

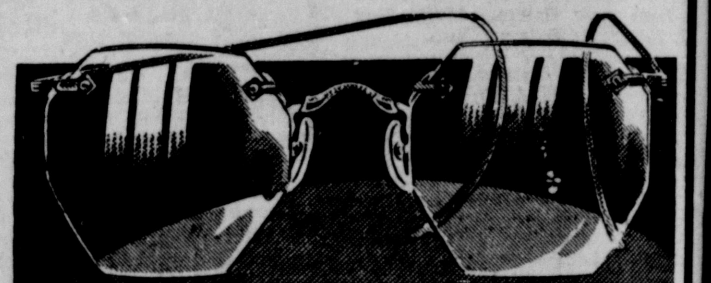

Thus he wrote: "Then palvering with Ward Morehouse about his recent stop-over in Gallipoli."

Although McIntyre typified the "typical New Yorker" to his legions of readers, he never pretended to the veneer of New York sophistication. He took pride, rather, in being a "small town boy" who was forever fascinated by the passing scene of the "big city."
